Guided examples

In this chapter...

This chapter contains examples of processing data with Jdaviz. At the moment, this consists of a tutorial on model fitting to find redshift. More content will be released as it becomes available.